I started to update the cemeteries in 2000 with the help of my dear friend, the late Barbara Day, who with her husband located these cemeteries in the early seventies. She gave me access to her late husband Richard's records and her remarkable memory.

It became important to me to locate these cemeteries and to GPS them and to update the burials that had happened since 1975 when they were first recorded because of the Veterans buried in many of them and to help anyone locate family or friends from the past. These also include the Town cemeteries.

There are five people I would like to thank with their help on this book. The first of course would be Barbara Day, the second and third would be my husband Richard and our dear departed friend Everett Chadbourne. They would locate cemeteries while hunting and let me know where they were. My husband and I have spent many hours searching the woods. The fourth would be my brother Paul Robie who has been instrumental in helping us restore some of these cemeteries. Last but not least would be my friend Melissa Johnson Pierce who has updated me of the burials in the public cemeteries.

Without their help this book would not have been possible.
